Golden Gloves Fighters Primed for 22-Bout Opening Card Monday Night

95 Signed on Entry List; Tournament Officials Set

81 Entered for AAU Bouts, 14 in Non-Title Class as Final Plans Are Made.

By JIM DARBY

With the Golden Gloves AAU district tournament set to open Monday at 8 p. m., 81 fighters have returned their official AAU entry blanks to the sponsoring Y's Men's Service club, it was announced today as officials for the annual event were designated. Fourteen paperweight or novice division fighters will also fight non-title bouts.

Bouts will begin promptly at 8 and 22 fights are scheduled for the first elimination session. The committee asks that all fighters report at the armory by 6 p. m. for a physical examination and weighing in, after which the fighters will be matched. The committee stresses that all entrants are expected to bring their own equipment—shoes, trunks, towels and robes.

Semi-finals Wednesday.

Semi-finals will be fought Wednesday and the final title bouts Friday. All fights are for three two-minute rounds with one-minute rest periods. Eight ounce gloves are used in weights up through weller and a 10 ounce glove in weights from middle to heavy.

Winners in their weights in this district tournament will go to the state AAU invitation tournament at Columbus March 26 and 27. State tournament winners will go to the national AAU tournament at Boston.

In order to spread the burden of refereeing and judging the bouts this year, the following have been appointed to alternate as judges and referees: Dr. A. J. Wagner, Jim Williams, Ike Jones, and Paul Lester. Attending physicians will be Drs. E. H. Morgan, R. L. Morgan, J. A. McNamara and A. E. Morrison; announcers: Marion E. Hinklin and Russell M. Wilhelm.

Reserve tickets are being sold at Markert and Lewis at $1 20 and general admission tickets at 85 cents are sold by all members of the Y's Men's club.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 9—The Yankees are finding their Florida training camps infested with scouts from other clubs, which recalls a prediction by Prexy Shug Shaughnessy of the International league that the big league teams will spend more time scouting one another than watching for prospects in the minor this spring... That's the only way they can get a line on players for possible trades, Shag explains, and besides that, they need a lot of information about who'll be who during the season... Another point Shag brought out is that they won't waste time on stars from second division clubs... Those deals just don't work out, he claims, because a player can make a lot of mistakes and still look good with a low-ranking club.

CLARIDON, MAGNETIC AND GALION SET FOR FINALS

Tonight the district tournaments enter the final rounds with only the elite left from the scores of original entries. At Delaware Columbus North battles Newark, and at Kenton Galion and Wapakoneta fight it out. In class B competition at Westerville, underdog Claridon carries Marion county's hopes into battle with Magnetic Springs and Grove City plays Worthington in dual championship play.

If Columbus North wins its battle at 9 p. m. tonight it will be largely by courtesy of Harding's Presidents. The toughest fight North had in the tournament was its 34 to 30 win over Harding when the locals faltered in the last moments of the opening game. Bexley and Columbus Central will tangle for runnerup at 7 30.

Claridon, in the finals despite off-stride play throughout the tournament, is hoping for a 16-cylinder evening as they tackle Magnetic Springs at 7.30 tonight. They'll need it in spite of a 22 for 24 record against Magnetic's 19 for 20 mark. The lower bracket duel pits the Franklin county winner, Worthington, against the runner-up, Grove City, for a final showdown.

Northridge Squeezes Into Regional Meet

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four teams, including Northridge's defending Class "B" state champions, today had clinched their places in next week's regional high school basketball tournaments.

Already assured of their regional berths were Northridge, Middlepoint and Sandusky St. Mary in Class "B" and Montpelier in Class "A." The other contenders to complete fields of 16 in each class will be decided tonight.

Northridge had its second straight close call before winning its district tournament at Dayton. The Polar Bears, held to their lowest offensive count of the season, barely squeezed past Eaton, 31 to 30. On their last time out they gained only a 34 to 32 margin over Franklin.

Six Teams Left

Sandusky St. Mary, which won its district meet at Fremont with a 30 to 30 decision over Cygnet will be shooting next week for its second straight trip to the state finals.

Middlepoint's 31 to 20 decision over New Knoxville trimmed the list of unbeaten teams in the tournament to six. They are Middletown and Hamilton Catholic in Class "A" and Northridge, Waynesburg, Attica and Strasburg in class "B."

Strasburg built its winning streak to 28 last night by walloping Zanesville St. Thomas, 61 to 50, and Attica's reached 24 by its 29 to 15 conquest of Bettsville.

The night was not without its upsets in Class "A," the most notable of which was the 40 to 35 beating Toledo Libbey gave Toledo Macomber. Macomber was the Toledo city champion and was heavily favored in its district after Rossford was knocked off in a first round encounter.

Libbey will meet Toledo Woodward in the finals.

The dope bucket also was kicked around a bit as Kent Roosevelt licked Akron South, 48 to 42, to gain the right to meet Akron St. Vincent in one of two final games at Kent.

Almonst an Upset

There almost was a major upset at Delaware, too, but Newark's Wildcats finally came through with a 44 to 42 decision over Columbus Bexley, a team they had licked easily earlier in the season. Newark was playing under a handicap, however, as star Bill Fleltz had to sit out the encounter because of a sprained ankle.

The Wildcats will meet Columbus North tonight. North also produced a bit of a surprise by whipping Columbus Central, the Capital City champions, 48 to 31

Galion Wins Way to Kenton Finals

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 9—Galion cagers edged Findlay 31 to 27 while Wapakoneta stopped Lima South 43 to 31 last night at Kenton in the class A district semi-finals. The two will meet tonight at 8 for the championship.

Galion came from behind twice in this nip and tuck battle before Neff and Bosser sewed up the game in the last few moments. Findlay led at the end of the first quarter and had it tied up at 23 all as the final round began.

Wapakoneta in typical style, rolled up a thumping margin in the first half then coasted to victory. Lima South outplayed the Western Buckeye league champs all through the last two frames but not enough.

MARION'S FAIZO DUE FOR GRID WORKOUTS

One of 16 Experienced Men To Report for OSU Drill.

Among the members of Ohio State university's 1945 football squad who are returning for spring practice April 1 is "Chuck" Fazlo, 19, of 384 Forest street, according to a release from the University athletic department.

Fazio, former Harding High star tackle, is one of 16 experienced players who have just finished six weeks of indoor drill and are expected to be on hand for the opener against Missouri Sept. 28. Others are: All American guard and captain-elect Warren Amling, center Steve O'Dea, guard Jack Roe, tackles Max Schnittker, Sam Winters, Ernie Santora, ends Dick Jackson, James Crane, Carlton Kessler, Robert Merrell, backfielders Robin Priday, Jerry Krall, Clyde Marshall, Matt Brown, Charles Gandee. Indications are that Coach Paul O. Bixler will shift Amling to tackle and Priday to end.

In the doubtful class because of possible induction are: backfielders Harold Daugherty, Alex Verdova, William Biel, linemen Herb Gorby, Forrest Hamilton, Ward Wright. Already in the service are fullback Ollie Cline, center Jack Lininger and guard Bob McGinnis.

Twenty-two ex-service men with pre-war or wartime experience are working out this spring and "Tippy" Dye is expected to be released from the Navy in time to join the coaching staff before the fall campaign opens.

A. A. Club Bosses Boast Plenty of 'Savvy'

Roster of 146 Managers Runs from Quiet Charley Root to Noisy Nick Cullop.

By HAROLD HARRISON
AP Newsfeatures

COLUMBUS, O. — If the 1946 American Association pennant race is lacking in color and baseball "savvy" it won't be because of a shortage of those two commodities among the managers.

League President Roy Hamey beams as he reels off the list of association pilots and recounts their baseball background. They range from Zeke (Bananas) Bonura, making his managerial debut at Minneapolis, and the noisy, red-faced Nick Cullop at Milwaukee, to quiet Charlie Root, one of the Chicago Cubs' all-time pitching greats, who will be in his second year at the helm of the Columbus Redbirds.

Three Changes

There will be three changes from last year's managerial roster—Bonura at Minneapolis; Bill (Dutch) Meyer back at Kansas City after a hitch in Newark, and Don Gutteridge at Toledo to succeed Ollie Marquardt.

Bonura formerly played with the Chicago White Sox and New York Giants and only recently was released from the Army. Long known as a power hitter, Bonura is expected to have considerable fun with opposing pitchers when he goes into active competition in the under-sized Miller park.

Meyer comes back to Kansas City after a four-year absence during which he piloted Newark to the International league pennant in 1942 and second place in each of the last three years. In his previous tenure at Kansas City—1938 through 1941—his teams never finished lower than third.

With Casey Stengel giving way to Meyer at Kansas City, "the honor of being the noisiest pilot in the association probably will fall to Cullop, the Franklin county, O., farmer, who last year directed Milwaukee to its third straight pennant. Cullop, known variously as "the Hipper-Dipper," "Old Baldy," and "Tomato Face," once hit 54 home runs in one season for Minneapolis. He directed Columbus to a junior world series championship in 1943.

Gutteridge, who is making his managerial debut, undoubtedly will play many games for Toledo. Though anything but a power hitter, he teamed well with Vern Stephens of the Browns for four years. He also played four full seasons with the Cardinals.

Rest of List

The remainder of the association's managerial talent is made up of Bill Burwell at Indianapolis, Nemo Leibold at Louisville and Ray Blades at St. Paul.

Root, who doesn't go in for the histrionics used by Cullop and some of the others, won nine games and lost eight last year with his last place club after he had reached the ripe old age of 46. For 16 years he was a mainstay of the Cub staff.

Burwell has been in the association limelight either as a pitcher or manager since 1925 when he led the league in victories and earned runs. He managed Louisville to the junior world series championship in 1939 and finished second in the association last year with Indianapolis.

Leibold, the old Chicago White Sox star, has had Louisville in the little world series each of the last two years and he won it in 1945. He also formerly managed Columbus.

Blades, who hit .396 while playing part time for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1930, directed Columbus to the little world series title in 1933 and 1934 and his St. Paul teams finished fourth both in 1944 and 1945.

Rapid Robert's Spring Form Wins Okay from Boudreau

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 9 — Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians today put the "okay" sign on the spring training form of blazing Bob Feller, mainstay of the Tribe's potentially powerful mound staff.

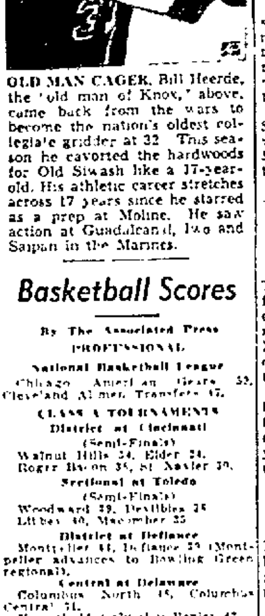
Feller, who previously said his training form would reveal whether he still had his pre-war effectiveness, impressed his youthful boss yesterday by exploding his 'bullet ball' past two strikeout victims in his first three innings of pitching this year.

Allie Reynolds, another 25 per cent of the Indians' "big four" hurling corps, followed Feller to the mound and also was impressive as the Melillos defeated the Susces 6 to 4 in a hard-hitting contest.

"Allie was bearing down and he was rough on those hitters" was Boudreau's comment. Reynolds permitted three hits and struck out one batter in his three inning stint while Feller allowed three bingles.

The Tribe manager expressed satisfaction with the Redskins' newly-found batting strength. A total of 44 hits, including six home runs, have rattled off the Tribesmen's bats in their last two intra-squad games.

Rookie first baseman Elmer Sidlo cracked two of the homers while recruits Ed Robinson and Sherman Lollar rapped round-trippers yesterday.



OLD MAN CAGER. Bill Heerde, the 'old man of Knox,' above, came back from the wars to become the nation's oldest collegiate gridder at 32. This season he cavorted the hardwoods for Old Siwash like a 17-year-old. His athletic career stretches across 17 years since he starred as a prep at Moline. He saw action at Guadalcanal, Iwo and Saipan in the Marines.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

OLGA'S eyes were troubled as they met mine.

"Yes, dear Madge," she said. "That is what Olina is planning."

She stopped, as if she were measuring her words.

"In a way, it is a most natural gesture," she said. "She loves Georges terribly, and"—she hesitated again—"I am afraid in a way she is ashamed of his actions, and for that very reason is determined to show her championship of him by announcing her betrothal to him."

"Yes, I can see that," I said as she paused, evidently in expectation of an answer from me.

"But," she went on, "this flaunting of her ring is something else again, as I have heard some of you say over here."

I felt a sudden unreasoning desire to say: "You haven't heard me say it," then fought it down, horrified at the tricks my nerves were playing me.

"You see, she said slowly, "although I idolize Olina, yet I am afraid I am something of a Spartan mother."

She stopped and gave me a look that had appeal in it.

A Very Just Woman

"I do not think I should call you a Spartan mother, Olga," I told her smiling. "But you are a very just woman, and I think you should be careful that in your zeal to be just, you do not tip the scales against your own, instead of toward them."

"I see your point, dear Madge," she said, "but in this case, I shall have to tip the scales away from my own daughter. You see, Mary is very, very dear to me. She is the wife of my husband's idolized son, and I cannot see her hurt."

I stiffened involuntarily.

"I do not quite understand," I said. "Just what is Olina planning to do?"

"I am afraid I do not understand, myself, what is going through my daughter's mind," she said sadly, "but I am afraid that when she makes the announcement of her engagement—or if Philip makes it for her—she will stress the point that the ring Georges has given her is the one the kings of Trees always give their brides."

Not So Good

"Not so good, if she makes it plain that she is exhibiting the ring and telling its history for Mary's especial benefit," I said. "Mary is very proud, you know."

"Indeed, I do know," she said. "She might have been a royal princess."

"Or a typical American girl," I thought, but did not utter the retort aloud. Olga is making a most laudable effort to become a part of her adopted country, but her involuntary reactions are still those of a queen.

"I am so puzzled at Olina," she said. "A long while back, the two girls were antagonists, but since my marriage to Philip they have appeared to be the best of friends, and it has warmed my heart very much."

Exhibition of Petty Spite

I was puzzled myself at this sudden exhibition of petty spite—if it were that—which Olina appeared to be preparing to make. Still ringing in my ears was her tearful query as to Mary's feelings for Georges, and her dislike of taking Georges from her, as she once had tried to annex Noel in revenge for Georges' infatuation with Mary.

But I could not tell Olina's mother of that interview, and I fell back upon another comforting bit of counsel.

"Mary will play the game, never fear," I said, "just so she knows beforehand what is coming."

"Oh, I never could let her go unwarned!" Mary's mother-in-law said. "She will play the game but—will she be hurt?"

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Eye Trouble

BY allergic disorders, we mean a group of conditions which arise because persons react to some food which they eat, to some drugs which they may take, or to pollen or dusts which are breathed in or come in contact with the tissues or to any one of a number of things that they may be susceptible to. These allergic disorders may affect various parts of the body.

For example, asthma affects the lungs; hay fever, the nose. The eyes and lips also are affected by allergic conditions. Drugs, pollen, toxic poisons formed by germs, dusts or foods all may be responsible for the allergic conditions of the eye, according to Dr. Erling W. Hansen of Minnesota.

The lining membrane over the eyeball, the lids and the cornea or front part of the eyeball may be affected by the kind of pollen which produces hay fever, such as rag-weed pollen. An inflammation along the edge of the eyelid known as blepharitis marginalis, according to this physician, is frequently caused by eating eggs, chocolate, milk or peanuts.

In the spring and summer of the year a condition known as vernal conjunctivitis, which is an inflammation of the lining of the eyeball and eyelids, may develop in persons between five and fifteen years of age. The condition clears up in the fall and winter. This disease is probably caused by pollen from trees and early grasses.

In vernal conjunctivitis, little swellings occur under the eyelids. There is itching pain on exposure of the eyes to light, and the kind of white blood cells known as eosinophils are found in the mucus secretions from the eyes.

After the disorder continues for several seasons, the swellings on the underside of the lids often become permanent and cause an irritation of the cornea. The disorder may be so severe that it is necessary for the physician to remove the lining membrane from the inside of the eyelids.

When eye inflammation occurs, it is necessary that a careful study be made to determine if the disorder is caused by some allergic condition. In these allergic disorders, the treatment is far different from that required in eye infections, in that the substance causing the allergy should be found and contact with it prevented, if possible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

V. P.: My daughter who is seventeen years old complains of her joints feeling loose and uncomfortable. When she twists them a certain way they make a loud cracking noise. What do you suggest?

Answer: "Cracking" in the joints is probably due to the fact that there has been a disturbance known as fibrositis in the ligaments. This causes the ligaments to become somewhat shorter. When the bones move, the ligaments are stretched, which causes the cracking sound. There is no need to worry about this condition, as it will cause no trouble.

M. C.: I have a tumor or a cyst just behind or under the right ear lobe. Can I use some way to waste it away or do I have to have it cut out?

Answer: It is probable that the swelling which you mention is either a fatty tumor or a sebaceous cyst. It probably will be necessary to have it removed surgically.

Chrysanthemums will keep longer if kept in a dark place.

Modern Home Conveniences Add Three Hours of Leisure Daily

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Kitchen and Laundry Work Made Easy.

It has been estimated by authorities that the modern kitchen and laundry add exactly three hours of leisure to the housewives' day. When this is analyzed the truth of it becomes obvious. The comparatively small operation of preparing a breakfast alone, in a modern kitchen with electric toaster, mixer, and coffee urn, and everything within hands' reach, is a good 15 minutes shorter than the same job in an old-fashioned kitchen. The cleaning up operation in the modern kitchen consists of putting the silver and dishes in the automatic washer, and placing them in their closet when the machine has done its job.

Everything In Right Place

The modern kitchen has electric service plugs wherever they are needed, and they are not down in the baseboard where you must stoop to reach them. Pots, pans and utensils have a definite storage space. Walls are of plastic or other composition sheets that are wiped clean without effort; floors are resilient, easy to clean, and stain proof. There is good light, good ventilation, and a telephone extension that obviates long trips to the main instrument. In short the modern kitchen provides great convenience, comfortable surroundings, and ease of operation. All of this is available to the small home today with proper planning

Wash day has ceased to be a nightmare to the modern housewife with a modern laundry or modern laundry equipment in her kitchen As a matter of fact there is no longer any particular day set aside for the drudgery of the family wash, because it is done at odd moments as it may accumulate

Drudgery? No Such Word

When you have a washing machine that soaks, scrubs, rinses and dries, an ironing board that drops out of the wall ready for use, an electric iron that dampens and maintains a constant heat, there is not much drudgery involved for the average competent housewife. When mechanical equipment takes the place of manual labor to a great degree, things simmer down to good planning and management.

There is nothing particularly new about dish washers and clothes washers, electric irons and mixers, or vacuum cleaners, but there is much news in the manner in which they have been developed. There are now combination clothes and dish washers, perfected irons and mixers, and better vacuum cleaners. There is mechanical ventilation, perfected sensible lighting, glass-doored stoves and ranges, and walls and floors that were unknown a generation ago. There is now available every conceivable aid for making kitchen and laundry operation a real pleasure instead of a task. Look into them, and even though you may not be able to afford them at the moment, at least provide for them in your plans for the future.

WHY WASTE COAL?

One of a series of articles intended to help solve heating problems and conserve fuel.

The periodic brushing of the gas passages of the boiler or furnace of a hand-fired or stoker-fired system is a three-minute chore which pays big dividends If you are not in the habit of doing this, we would suggest that you obtain a flexible-handled wire brush from your hardware dealer or heating contractor, and brush these passages. A considerable saving of fuel can be effected by this simple means, because accumulation of soot and ash in the gas passages, which are the heat-absorbing surfaces of the heating device, acts as insulation, and causes heat to be lost unnecessarily.

On warm-air furnaces, hot-water or steam boilers, there is a small door usually marked "Clean-out." opposite the smoke-pipe outlet. The brush should be inserted through this door for the purpose of cleaning out the accumulation in the gas passages The soot and ash should be removed and put on the fire. It will not hurt the fire. Indeed, the soot, being unburned carbon, will be additional fuel. The check-draft should be closed while this operation is being performed.

Since this money-saving process is so easy, and does not cause any dust to be discharged into the basement, we recommend that it be done at least once a month during the heating season

Heated Rugs One Of New Comforts Ahead

NEW YORK—Electrically heated rugs designed for the rooms of invalids and babies are among the many new comforts and conveniences which will be found in the home of the near future, according to Business Week.

Others, the publication states, are lamp shades now going into production, equipped with a levelizer to keep them neatly horizontal at all times, a cordless electric iron which makes electrical contact with a thermostatically controlled bed plate when rested on the plate between pieces of work, and an electric alarm clock which rings until the over-sleeper gets out of bed, permitting the springs to rise and operate the cut-off switch.

FORFCAST ON STOKERS

By 1946 stoker manufacturers predict their production and sales will be on the highest level in the history of the industry. Material bottlenecks should be eliminated by that time, and residential stokers as well as commercial and industrial models produced at a fast rate, stoker company officials say.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

By The Associated Press

This six-room house was designed by Maurice Thornton of 5392 Compton drive, Indianapolis, Ind. In addition to rooms shown in these plans, a large space with fireplace is provided in the basement for a recreation room. Because of families that prefer traditional styles, this house was selected by the American Builder, 105 West Adams street, Chicago.

20 Years Bring Many Building Developments

It's 20 years since this country has seen a building boom, and much has happened to houses since then Don't let anybody tell you there have been no advances in homes. Here are a few that your father never thought of when he built his house, says Practical Builder, Chicago, but which you can have in yours departmentized or dual purpose bath, insulating windows, planned upstairs laundry, circulating fireplace, picture windows, planned storage areas, perfect comfort heating systems, summer and winter air conditioning, adequate wiring, concealed indirect lighting, full insulation, positive ventilation, silent switches, circuit breakers instead of fuses, hardwood plywood, sliding doors, double-duty rooms, sound conditioning.

These are just a few of the new things, but that isn't all. Dozens and dozens of better materials are available today, and probably most important, houses are better designed for comfort, maximum living convenience and minimum housework.

Shoes should be cleaned and polished regularly. Polishing keeps leather soft, makes shoe more resistant to water, dirt, weather and wear.

Cabinet Space One of Top Features In Postwar Kitchens

Cabinet space is one of the features that will be particularly emphasized in the postwar kitchen, and how the housewife will glory in it—provided she makes the most of her cabinet space,

The space below the sink comes into its own at last as a storage spot for many necessities, with a door to conceal it from view.

Shelves will be adjusted to fit their contents; small shelves for low objects; tall ones for stacked-up dishes—a real solution to waste space and inefficiency in your storage set-up.

Some of the shelves may be sliding trays to let you reach the items stored at the back of the cupboard easily. Think about adding a pullout shelf directly from the wall It will add storage space at meal time, and, if at the right height, will act as a table surface for your sit-down work

If your window does not extend to the ceiling, the space above it is ideally suited for the storage of seldom-used pieces It adds a decorative note to the kitchen, too. Special storage space in the way of a high closet or cabinet will be provided for brooms, mops and other long-handled gadgets

Consult your builder about these things. He will be able to advise you on what will be practical.

COAL BURNING PROCESS

Before coal can burn, it is converted into gas, and before gas can burn it is mixed with a proper amount of air This process is called 'carburetion," and has been scientifically perfected on automatic coal stokers for balanced, efficient firing, point out heating engineers

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

COLD, DRAFTY STAIRWAYS

Q: My stairways are always cold and drafty, and I do not know where the draft comes from. Can you advise me?

A: Cold air sinks to the lowest level it can find, and a stairway gives it an easy pathway. Cold air is leaking into your house somewhere, probably around windows and doorways, or at the top of the house walls under the roof. If you have no storm sash or weatherstripping, you would save fuel and make your house warmer by putting them on. Insulation in the roof would keep the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

NOISY RADIATORS

Q: One or two of my radiators make a sort of clanking noise when they become heated. It is very disturbing. How can I stop the noise?

A: The noise may be caused by a sagging of the branch pipe from the riser pipe to the radiator. Try raising the radiator by placing quarter-inch-thick blocks of wood under each radiator leg. Two or three layers of these blocks may be needed to raise the pitch of the branch pipe. Radiators should stand perfectly level. There is also the possibility that your piping connections are wrong A competent heating man should be called in to check the entire system.

• • •

SCREWS IN WALLBOARD

Q: I have tried to put up towel racks in my bathroom, but the screws do not stay firmly in the wallboard walls, so that the towel racks are loose How can I fasten the screws in better?

A: At a hardware or dime store you can get "toggle bolts,' which should serve your purpose very well.

• • •

WALLPAPER BORDER

Q: There is a border along the upper part of my wallpaper, made of a heavily encrusted type of paper I should like to remove it, as it does not harmonize with my new drapes Washing and scraping are very tedious Is there some easier way to take it off?

A: Try rubbing with coarse sandpaper, which you can wrap around a block of wood for easy handling Then soak with warm water, containing a little ammonia It should then be soft enough to come off with a little more scraping.

HOLE IN LINOLEUM

Q: Is there any way to fill a small hole in floor linoleum?

A: Get a small piece of linoleum of the right color. Pulverize the piece to a rather fine powder mix it with a small quantity spar varnish to make a Smooth the edges of the hole fine steel wool, and then force paste into the hole and allow dry hard Then rub on a dab of paste wax, let dry, and pol

Some Advice On Painting Radiators

Painting a radiator? Be sure that the last coat of paint that you apply is the non-metallic kind, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, in calling attention to the fact that a radiator finished with metallic paints will emit less heat than a similar one finished with non-metallic paint. It's only the last coat of paint, however, that makes any difference. The first coat may be metallic so long as the final coat is non-metallic

Home Nursing Vital Part of Red Cross Work

"The women who are taking part in the Red Cross Home Nursing Program are guarding the health of our community," declares Mrs J. C. Ackerman, home nursing chairman of the Marion County Red Cross chapter. Courses in home nursing are a part of the service of the Red Cross, and are made possible through funds raised in the annual Red Cross fund campaign. This year Marion County's quota is $38,300 of which $23,000 will remain in the community to carry on the work here. The remainder will be forwarded to the National Red Cross

1946 FUND CAMPAIGN

"Within the nation facing tasks of readjustment the need for home nursing is apparent as part of every good homemaker's equipment," she said.

In classes offered by the local chapter, during the last year, 31 persons have learned how to give simple care to the ill and prevent the spread of disease to well members of their families. These classes were instructed by Mrs Eleanor Hinklin, Mrs. Mabel Smith, Mrs. Margaret Weiss, and Mrs Mary Catherine Hane. These classes were conducted in Pleasant Township and Oakland Heights. Students of Harding High school are taking advantage of this instruction in classes conducted in the school. The instructors of the course are required to be registered nurses and at the present time our chapter has eight qualified instructors.

Cotton Clothes Prices Boosted

U. S. Acts To Spur Production of Shirts, Shorts, Dresses for Consumers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 9—The government acted to spur production of shirts, shorts, dresses and other scarce clothing items today by authorizing higher prices for cotton textiles.

OPA disclosed the new policy in announcing more substantial price levels than the cotton industry had been promised. These increases will be reflected in higher retail prices for the garments named and for such other items as pajamas, and work clothing.

New retail ceilings have not been set yet, but OPA said it expects the price of shirts and house dresses, for example to advance from 10 to 15 cents. Shorts may cost about eight cents more.

Increase Boosted

A few weeks ago, when OPA was outlining the current program, it figured the increase for shirts would be only five or six cents.

The newly authorized retail price hike will be from two or three times that much mainly because OPA has decided, it announced last night, that higher prices for textiles should be based on the increased market price of raw cotton.

OPA said the action had been approved by economic stabilizer Chester Bowles "as a means of encouraging increased production in view of the present critical shortage" of clothing.

In Boston, President Russell J. Fisher of the National Cotton Manufacturers association, said it appeared that the increases given are too small to accomplish their purpose."

President J. E. Odenheimer of the Lane Cotton Mills, New Orleans, said he thought increased production would result if the ceiling were high enough to enable mills to use three shifts or operate overtime.

Make Other Types

The Civilian Production Administration said thousands of cotton fabric machines have been turning out less important types of cloths, thus curtailing production of essential garments.

Under the OPA order, mills must restore looms to garment fabrics if they were used for such material at any time during the last four years.

OPA said speculators in the cotton market "are largely to blame" for driving up prices for raw cotton and clothing. To curb this speculation, cotton exchanges are being urged to increase margin requirements for trading in cotton futures.

Foreign Export Agent Is Named by Detrola

DETROIT, March 9—Appointment of Lieut. Col George Tiffany, veteran export executive, to direct foreign sales of International Detrola Corporation was announced today by C. Russell Feldmann, president and board chairman.

Col. Tiffany recently was placed on inactive military status. In addition to air force service in two wars he has a long record of export work for General Motors Corporation and just before the war was president and treasurer of his own firm, Consolidated Exports, Inc. He has established International Detrola's export division headquarters in the Chrysler Building, New York City. General and executive offices of the company are in Detroit.

He is 48 years old, a great grandson of Commodore Perry who opened Japan, and was educated at Harvard university and in France and Germany.

International Detrola's export program is expected to include home and automobile radio receivers, refrigerating and air conditioning units, domestic refrigerators, radio loud speakers, and aircraft sub-assemblies.

Universal Cooler in Marion is a division of International Detrola.

Housing Wins 357-24

THE FORM in which the administration housing bill won house approval Thursday was so changed from the original proposal that Housing Expediter Wyatt says the official nations goal of 2 700 000 new houses is impossible

However a few things have happened since Expediter Wyatt first turned his dynamic attention to housing There has been considerable discussion The discussion has brought out varying points of view The varying points have clashed and the clashes have brought out a few sparks of truth

The result is that many persons who wanted to believe Mr Wyatt could wave a wand and produce 2 700 000 houses out of red tape now realize that housing is not merely a problem of doing certain things in the future but undoing certain things of the past

The government of itself cannot build a chicken coop Houses must be built by private enterprise with materials made available by private enterprise If private enterprise had a free rein there would be no need for a Mr Wyatt to expedite houses The demand for houses would be all the incentive necessary

In other words housing has not been affected by a watered-down housing bill All that was affected are the plans of Washington to neutralize damage done by previous government policies that hinder housing more than they help it Everybody is for more and better housing But not everybody these days is for the worn out credo that the federal government which claims to have all the answers never needs to acknowledge its mistakes Its pricing regulations on building materials are a very grave mistake

Missing Detail

LAST-MINUTE settlement of issues threatening to cripple telephone service removes one of three major strike possibilities Paralysis of railroad service and a stoppage of coal mining are the other two

The telphone settlement is marked by a missing detail that has been vital in all other important labor controversies—the inflationary effect of the higher rates obtained by labor s strategy

Telephone rates unlike the price of steel per ton, the price of automobiles, coal and railroad service are not subject to federal edict They lie between the component parts of the communications monopoly and the utility commissions of the states There is no Chester Bowles with authority to say yes or no no possibility of a direct horse trade, no quid pro quo

Higher operating costs, if that is what a general increase in wage rates for telephone workers is going to mean, must be recovered by protracted negotiations in the separate states The missing detail of the telephone strike is the contribution to inflation that came out of it

Diplomatic Marksmanship

AS THE vote counting continues in Argentina it is apparent that only a miracle can keep Juan Peron from controlling the government either as its president boss of the majority party, or both

This will be embarrassing to the United States It will pose a tough proposition in diplomacy what follows an unsuccessful attack on a hostile individual"

In the sharing of responsibility for the government s conduct of foreign affairs all informed Americans know why Peron of Argentina has become a symbol of force in Latin American politics that must be resisted The United States, somewhat ineptly staked its prestige on its ability not only to resist Peron but to eliminate him In his election campaign it took sides against him,

Our diplomats, after many misfires and reloadings have performed the modern counterpart of the traditional plot to destroy a king

He who shoots at a king must not miss It remains to be seen what happens when a dictator is untouched by a badly aimed "bullet" Peron is one Franco in Spain may be another

Some Cylinders Missing

RUSSIA obviously intends to promote its special brand of communism wherever it can sow the seeds of dissension But capitalism meanwhile, which can be made to yield to communism only where the mass of the people have everything to gain and nothing to lose, is being tied in knots by industrial rebellion and labor-management deadlocks

Instead of being promoted, it is being held back It is going into a race for its existence with cylinders missing It becomes of increasing interest why the cylinders are missing who is most interested in having them that way, what wires were pulled loose with what purpose in mind, who and what stands to gain most if the industrial reconversion of the United States is crippled

Trip of Battleship Missouri

By WALTER LIPPMANN

More Than Conventions of Diplomacy in Voyage.

ALONG with the announcement that the body of the late Turkish ambassador is to be taken home on board the battleship Missouri the state department has made a disclaimer that this decision has any political meaning

The conventions of diplomacy may require this But in fact, as everyone knows the choice of this ship and the timing of its voyage to coincide with the mounting crisis in the Middle East constitutes a political demonstration

That is our intention and therefore it is quite important that we should place our own interpretation upon it Otherwise we may find that Moscow London and Istanbul have put their conflicting interpretations upon it

If the Missouri is to accomplish her real mission which is to promote peace we must make it clear to all concerned why as the Middle Eastern crisis mounts we have thought it advisable to exhibit at the center of it this token of American power This would be necessary in any event It is particularly necessary in the aftermath of Mr Churchill s speech

Our action is meant of course to show that the United States has a real not merely a theoretical and verbal interest in the Mediterranean and the Middle East That much will be understood in every foreign office When a great power sends a battleship to a disputed area in the language of diplomacy that means it intends to participate in the settlement

Chance of Error

Our intentions could easily be misinterpreted especially at this moment as committing this country to the role of seconder and supporter in an anti-Soviet coalition That surely is not what we intend to accomplish Our real reason which is the best of all reasons should be made known unmistakably! That the United States has great interests of its own in the Mediterranean and that the settlement is not to be determined by Great Britain and the Soviet Union alone The whole value of the demonstration would be destroyed if Moscow London and Istanbul were allowed to think that Mr Churchill has persuaded us to come in order to reinforce Mr Bevin

This is not a lend lease operation It is an insistence that we wish to be recognized as an independent power in the Mediterranean and not to be committed entangled, and discounted as an auxiliary power

Independent American participation is indispensable if the conflict in the Mediterranean is not to become first deadlocked and then dangerously explosive

The British Russian conflict is deteriorating toward violence For both in Moscow and in London the men who have responsibility seem to have run out of ideas and of the energy to promote them which offer any hope or promise of a constructive settlement Moscow is full of dynamism no doubt but it is primitive acquisitive and morbidly self-centered The Soviet leaders who profess to be the missionaries of a new civilization are at the present time behaving as if no one in Russia had had a really new idea since Peter the Great

And London after all the fine rhetoric of the Labor party leaders has a foreign policy which is not easily distinguishable from that of Palmerston at the time of the Crimean War

It is a new power without vested interests and a long history in the Mediterranean that we can best serve our own interests and those of the general peace To play this part well is not easy since we shall need to distinguish clearly the line between appeasement and retreat in the face of Soviet expansion on the one hand of sterile resistance, in conclusive rear guard actions and entanglement on the other

Drawing Line

As long as we are not physically present in this region as an independent power it is almost impossible to draw that line We are forever being caught between Russian actions which present us with accomplished facts and echoing the British protests which do not prevent the accomplished facts

With the Missouri and an accompanying fleet treated as the symbol of our power and interest we can make it unmistakably clear in Moscow just where we believe the outer limits of their expansion are

They are at those critical points where the defense of the Russian homeland against invasion ends They are for the Mediterranean quite explicitly at Trieste Salonika and the Dodecanese and the other Greek islands they are in the Red Sea and the Persian Gulf

On the Russian side of that line lies a belt of territory which includes the Balkans Turkey and Iran Here there is a legitimate Russian interest But if the Russians wish to live peaceably in the same world with the Allies they will not attempt to magnify their legitimate interest into an exclusive interest Here there will have to be collaboration, and respect for the principles and engagements they and we have jointly made and then a settlement or the consequences for all of us for them and for ourselves —will be much worse than those who take a short view are likely to realize

If Stalin and his associates wish to understand the consequences of non cooperation let them read first Mr Churchill s speech and then let him study the American reaction to it They will find that the American people have not accepted Mr Churchill s proposal to enter into an anti Soviet coalition They regard it as a counsel of despair—as tantamount to confessing that the peacemaking has failed

The American people perhaps because they are less exhausted than others by the war are not ready to admit failure But they are at the point where they admit the possibility of failure That is what Stalin must do his best to understand There is nothing in all the world so important for him to understand

For if the time comes—and it will depend in considerable degree upon Stalin Molotov and Vishinsky whether it comes — when Americans consider that the peace has been lost they will turn toward Churchill though now they have turned away from him

The Churchill thesis is not now even though the president was there while it was propounded the American policy But it could become the American policy if in the Middle East, in Germany and in China the Soviet Union makes collaboration so inordinately difficult that there is nothing to show for it but disappointment and frustration

Case and His Labor Bill

By Frank I Weller

By FRANK I WELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON—It s beyond a lot of people who know him how Rep Francis Case ever came to write his proposed Labor Disputes Act 1946"

He s never encountered a strike or a lockout His two newspapers are open shop All the union labor in South Dakota his home state would rattle in a gopher hole He says a senator from an eastern industrial center asked him to keep out of this business that he didn t know a damn thing about it

Case a Republican is 49 tips 5 feet 8 weighs 165 pounds In addition to being a congressman since 1936 he ranches 900 acres in the Black Hills and runs two weekly newspapers the Custer Chronicle and the Hot Springs Star

A Non Cussing Ex Sergeant

Casey as they call him is an ex-Marine who doesn t smoke cuss play cards booze around or anything He was a drill sergeant in the old war His father was a Methodist minister but Case says he doesn t go to church half enough

Case says he strictly is a friend of labor and that his bill proves it

He says, I insist that it is equally important to protect the rights of labor and industry and the general public in the processes of collective bargaining

REP FRANCIS CASE

His bill declares the use of force violence and compulsion to be against public policy The desired end of bargaining between management and labor is a contract Once that contract is made it must be equally binding and enforceable on both parties

In some ways Case is a card He fishes but isn t much good They elected him to the Custer S D One Shot Club" last August when he knocked over a big buffalo with a single bullet from a 306 rifle using a telescope sight

One time he had to escort a batch of redskins around Washington The chief Spotted Owl said through an interpreter that Washington never would amount to anything because it was too crowded for its size and too far from home

Swiss Students Duel in Secret

By The Associated Press

BERN Switzerland—The ancient sport of dueling still flourishes in Switzerland among university students although it is forbidden by law

The matches whether for fencing practice or to settle a grudge, take place secretly generally in a remote country inn Seconds for the contestants an umpire and a doctor always are present Should the duelers members of 11 student clubs which sponsor the sport be caught, they face imprisonment, or a fine and confiscation of weapons

Dueling is not as dangerous as one might think an alumnus of a dueling fraternity said A wounded fencer seldom has to be taken to the hospital

To prevent wounds duelers protect their eyes, throat arms and chests Sabers and rapiers are disinfected regularly

Giving the reason for continuation of the old sport a veteran dueler said it is not important to win such a match Most important is to behave as a man should behave in the face of danger

Britain's Troubles

By Raymond Moley

WINSTON CHURCHILL in office or out has more influence in the United States than any other foreigner The application of the term foreigner to this man seems at first blush an affront He is loved for his courage respected for his integrity and enormously respected for his incomparable intellectual talents

In his Westminster College speech he was the Churchill we have known for years—frank resourceful friendly and profoundly a British patriot He hits a popular note in this country at the moment because he voices perhaps too broadly a growing impatience among us with the post-war policies of Soviet Russia

Wholly aside from the rights and wrongs of the many differences of opinion between Russia and Britain the Churchill appeal reminds us once more, of the inevitability of American sympathy and help for Britain in all her critical moments Those who believe that this country will ever fail to back up Britain if she is in danger need only look back to the early years of the last two wars In both instances the President of the United States proclaimed neutrality But the American people refused to be neutral and ultimately gave all they had to the defeat of Britain s enemies Everyone old enough to have passed through these two periods must feel the same fatalism Ultimately we will cast aside detachment and help Britain

British Policy

But we will also remember that British policy and diplomacy in the events prior to both wars left much to be desired Most Americans wish that in both cases we had taken a more active part in the preliminaries They wish we had told Britain well before those wars what we would support and what we would not support They wish we had lent a hand in the making of world policies before the war because they believe that, if we had given some realistic intellectual guidance we might have saved ourselves the giving of so much blood and treasure later on

Something like the same situation faces us now and Mr Churchill with all his persuasive eloquence suggests that we should once more accept British initiative in world policy There was little or nothing in his speech which suggested that most of Britain s troubles have little to do directly with Soviet relations They have to do with unrest in the British the Dutch and the French empires themselves

In Egypt Malaya India Indonesia Syria and Lebanon the trouble is with the new demands of old subject peoples The war sharpened the unrest of great areas which seek some new form of government more likely to lead to the democracy and self-determination of which Mr Churchill speaks so feelingly So far the Government of Great Britain has failed to take sufficient account of this unrest It has too often used old and fruitless means of suppression by force In its efforts to maintain the old status Britain has neither welcomed our intervention nor has it come to the UNO with a frank desire to introduce more international authority over those countries that are half free and half subject

Times Change

Britain ought to realize that much of the authority exercised in past generations is outdated now that her position is weakened not only by internal impoverishment but by an unrealistic determination to hold the line against obviously changed conditions

No one wants to see the breakup of the British Empire Is should stand for all time as a symbol of the influence of free men and free institutions But there are spots in the world where readjustments must take place Larger measures of recognition must be given to awakening sentiments of independence Mr Churchill did not point out that a revived China wants not only no Russian grabs but also relaxation of British made restrictions on its independence What Britain needs and what Mr Churchill failed to indorse is a British made inventory of British holdings and a broad effort to supplant the rule of empire with the rule of law And in that reconsideration the United States might well be invited to join

Letter to a Forgetful Official

THE Russian request for a loan had been in Washington, due to carelessness, state department official for many weeks was found only when inquiry was made concerning —News item

To the Responsible Official—

Dear sir

Yes is a pretty serious matter and you better get a lawyer and start building defense if you hold any hope of keeping job There are some things that can be forgotten in Washington, but losing a request for a loan is not one of them In fact, a man who loses up such a request is not the type that expects any future in government service

* * *

What ever were you thinking of? What s matter with you anyhow? How come you can see a letter from any country on earth ask Uncle Sam for some moolah and get careless with it for a minute? Bear in mind this was a loan of a few millions This ran into billions and even a beginner in government service today would know that when a nation asks for billions from America it wants it How would the United States stand in the eyes of the world if the idea got around that it was time making loans?

* * *

What would the larger nations think if it were rumored to be even that in Washington there were people capable of getting a request for a few billion dollars and setting it aside a few months? Even holding such a request overnight is bad enough but pigeon-holing it you in your right mind? Are you a trustworthy American? Are you fit for any post in Washington?

* * *

If you want my opinion you had ACCOMPLICES Nobody in government service these days could sidetrack such a request all alone It is too big a mistake for one person to make

* * *

Out with the names of these fellow conspirators What petty minds what low guards of the Treasury what base persons with reactionary ideas about economy said to you This can wait? Come clean It is your only hope

Thar She Springs!

By Truman Twill

That expression on the human face at this time of year is not from stomach ache but hope springing eternal in the human breast This is more like a mild heartburn

It starts with hallucinations of landscape like the dream stuff in the property-gorgeous magazines and touches all the bases for a home run in garden spades doubled, redoubled vulnerable

The grass in the front yard this year is going to be velvety and green thick as hair on a dog s back springy and resilient tough and hardy and all else that it desirable in grass It is going to poop out by the end of June and be full of black plantain and dandelion

The grass in the back yard that was worn out by football players fox and-geese players and itinerant children looking for mud to wade through is going to come back from the grave No one will have to give it another thought or apologize for it, or prepare to finance a new stand of turf

The shrubbery that was dead or dying last fall and couldn t have been expected to survive the winter will snap out of it and grow all over the place instead of looking like a cluster of refugees from a starvation camp Everybody will say My what beautiful shrubbery instead of averting their eyes and changing the conversation

The hardy perennials will live up to their name and be hardy, instead of waiting to be coaxed out of the ground then expecting to be coaxed to stay out of the ground and put out a few blooms for the principle of the thing It won t be necessary to mention thinning them out before the end of the summer

There will be an early growing season for things in the vegetable garden The lettuce will be crisp and the tomatoes will look like the pictures in the catalogue instead of the gnarled specimens that have survived in previous years among the cinders brick bats and rusty cans

The apple tree will have apples on it The rhubarb will not be rubbery The peonies will have flowers Grass will decide to grow of its own free will on the terraces, which will no longer be in demand by photographers looking for examples of soil erosion

There will be no worms in the radishes no beetles on the beans and the early June peas will be prolific Nature will not have to be coddled to put on its finest performance, but will rise eagerly to the challenge For a few delirious weeks that s the hope that springs eternal It is not painful and almost never substantial just a passing fancy like spring fever

Lumber Men Threaten Bolt

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA Ga —Southern lumber dealers have threatened rebellion against area OPA officials if the present price-control policy is not ended

Richard Ben Ward associate publisher of Southern Lumber Journal, in Chicago recently declared that if the OPA does not act it will either be ignored or most lumber will be disposed of in the black market."

An OPA official in the Atlanta area explained that the objections appeared to arise from the fact that a price adjustment last fall for lumber millers forces the dealer to absorb the cost, and that dealers complained they cannot get lumber to sell

Add Shortages: Textbooks

By The Associated Press

NEWARK N J—You probably won t hear many students complaining about this, but publishers of school books are so far behind it will take years to catch up with the demand

William W Livingood of Hillsdale, editor in chief of a large textbook publishing firm, says the reasons are shortage of paper, an increased demand and catching up with the retrenchment years during the depression when schools got along with what books they had

The Unpurchasable Society

A Sermonette

By REV ELDRED JOHNSTON
Pastor of Central Christian Church

Text: "Ye are bought with a price: be not ye servants of men."—I Cor. 7:23

THERE is a popular saying "Every man has his price." This means that any man will give up his ideals for a bribe. The only difference between men is that some hold out for larger bribes than others. This is a policy that works. Much of the legislation in our state and national governments is made possible by this policy. But politics does not have a monopoly on this policy. Last year an eastern college basketball team was caught accepting a bribe from gamblers for throwing a game. Scrap iron dealers in this country continued to sell their products to the Japanese even after it was evident that Japan was preparing for a huge war of aggression. O just consider Mrs. Average Citizen who will lock up her house, peddle her children out to the neighbors, while she goes down town for four hours to stand in line to buy a pair of nylon hose. It does seem true. Every man has his price.

In the midst of a world like this, a world made fickle, unstable, untrustworthy by the lure of wealth, fame and comfort, stands one institution which alone is above and beyond the bribery of this world and that is the Church of Jesus Christ—the Unpurchasable Society.

This is not just a theory. Look at the record. Christ was tempted by Satan with the greatest bribes imaginable but Christ rejected them all. Stephen though surrounded by an angry mob ready to stone him to death proclaimed the judgement of God upon those who rejected the Gospel. Paul was threatened, insulted, beaten, mobbed and stoned but he continued to proclaim his unpopular message of the risen Christ. Down through the ages the record continues. Finally when the great threat to civilization, Nazi paganism, began to engulf Europe it was not the colleges, not the scientific societies, not the lodges, not the industrialists, not the labor unions that presented the fiercest opposition. It was the Church of Jesus Christ. Hundreds of its ministers were thrown into concentration camps. From one of them we heard this word: "How wonderful it is at a time like this not to have to learn anew that the Rock upon which our faith stands is unshakable." The Unpurchasable Society.

Thus the church is not just a kindly reproach to the evils of our time but a denunciation with authority — an authority from above. Such denunciation will not be silenced by threats or bribes for it has its anchor outside this world. To be sure there have been individual members and even whole congregations which have compromised with the world and even sold out to it. Judas was the first of a long line who kissed the Master publicly but privately betrayed Him. But these are not the Church—these are the ones who have deserted the Church for personal gain. The Church is built on a rock and the gates of hell can not prevail against it.

What is the secret of the Church's quality of unpurchasability? Look to the Scriptures. Jesus rebukes Satan with the words "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only shalt thou serve." Peter and John tell the Jewish council that had arrested them "We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard." Paul exclaims to King Agrippa "Whereupon, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." Paul writes to the Galatians "Do I seek to please men or God? For if I seek to please men, I should not be the servant of Christ. But I certify that the Gospel which I preached is not from man. For I neither received it of man neither was I taught it but by the revelation of Jesus Christ."

The church then, when it denounces evil—either in society or in individuals—does so, not by accident, nor by advice of wise men, nor by its own study of the situation. It does so because it is conscious that in so doing it is fulfilling the will of God. Through Christ and His apostles it has been revealed that God is unalterably opposed to evil. He sent His son into the world as a living indictment of evil. The Son sent His apostles into the world and the apostles sent the Church into the world as a living indictment of evil. So here stands the Church. It can do no other. The Church is a great oak standing in the midst of the world. It's true its branches may bend with the wind but they always spring back because the roots of that tree are deep and immovable regardless of how tempestuous the wind. This is the Unpurchasable Society.

HOME HUNGRY GI'S SWAMP LOAN OFFICE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 9—Anxiety of war veterans to purchase homes and the acute shortage of houses available for rent has caused a rapid increase in loan applications by ex servicemen in northern Ohio Veterans Administration loan officials reported today

Applications by veterans for real estate loans as provided by terms of the GI Bill of Rights have increased at such a sharp rate that the Cleveland V A staff has been working 12 hours daily and looking for office quarters that could accommodate more staff workers V A spokesmen said

The Vets Administration has approved 3 600 loans for about $18-000 000 to ex servicemen in 42 northern Ohio counties under the GI Bill and the volume of applications has been increasing daily

A 'galloping inflation' of real estate values in northern Ohio has been curtailed by a conservative policy of property appraisal adopted by banks and lending agencies in the area, but such a policy also has added difficulty to the veterans' search for homes V A spokesmen said

Los Angeles Sees $175,000 Postwar "Dream" House

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES March 9—Fritz Burns real man of Henry Kaiser's mass home building venture who opened his own postwar house to the public this week disclosed today that the two-bedroom dream home had cost him $175,000

The structure is equipped with all the electronic and mechanical gadgets a housewife would want packaged unit bathrooms and kitchens a fully automatic laundry that tosses clothes out ready to iron dust-precipitating air conditioning and even a revolutionary germ killing lighting system

In the first place Burns said the lot (on fashionable Wilshire boulevard) cost $75 000 The rest was eaten up in research and experimentation We became perfectionists and asked manufacturers to make things they never had made before Our only consolation is that we now know more about building postwar houses than anyone else

When Burns a wealthy 46-year old contractor started building the house a year ago he had no idea he ever would become associated with Henry Kaiser

I'm not sorry I built it but our job is to turn out good houses as fast as we can to relieve the nation's need he said

LITERATURE OF BIBLE SUBJECT OF TALK HERE

O W U Professor Speaks at Meeting of Class

The Bible contains some of the finest literature in the English language, but its literary merit is often obscured by the attention paid to its religious significance Professor Roy Diem of the speech department of Ohio Wesleyan University told the Wednesday Noon Bible class at the Y M C A Wednesday

The Bible is not solely a religious book Professor Diem said but contains material whose literary importance was recognized long before its inclusion in the Scriptures

Although Biblical literature is mainly famed for its poetry, prose passages such as the story of Ruth David's fight with Goliath and Paul's voyage in Acts, 27th chapter equal the narrative skill of modern masters such as Joseph Conrad Diem declared He divided the literature of the Bible into four classifications pre-Biblical poems prose drama and lyric poetry The pre Biblical poems he said are drawn from ancient literatures which existed before the formation of the present Bible and which are now almost unknown An example of the Bible's drama he said can be found in the story of Job and some examples of lyric poetry mentioned were the 8th 23rd 46th 139th Psalms and Proverbs and Lamentations

The King James version of the Bible has its faults too Prof Diem said Among them are the hard to read type the unusual chapter and verse arrangement which sets the Bible apart from other books and makes it hard to read and the manner in which poetry is printed like prose without regard for its rhyme or meter

'Florida Woman Has Dream Warning of Son's Strange Death

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla, March 9—A coroner's jury investigation into deaths of two fishermen aboard a pilotless craft in the Gulf of Mexico developed a story of strange coincidence

Mrs Nellie Lanius of St. Petersburg told the jury she was awakened by a powerful pre dawn dream that her 50-year-old son Ray, was in trouble

Impelled by the dream Mrs Lanius said she boarded a bus for Sarasota arriving two hours before Ray and Frank Nisher, 52, commercial fishermen of Nokomis a nearby village, were found dead

The boat, without guide chugged around the gulf for an hour early yesterday before running aground on the beach at Treasure Island about 18 miles south of Sarasota

The coroner's jury returned a finding last night of death from unknown causes, but concluded the most likely was carbon monoxide from the open engine pit

When the boat first was boarded it appeared that the hatch between the pit and covered cabin had been left open County Physician Dr F L Hall testified he could find no external marks of violence and that death seemed to be from natural causes probably carbon monoxide gas

GRANGE CHIEF HITS U. S. FOOD SUBSIDIES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 9 — A halt to government subsidies for food production was urged today by Albert S Goss National Grange master

He said however that such action should be accompanied by a boost in price ceilings to offset the withdrawal of subsidy payments

If this is done Goss told the house banking committee he would favor continuation of OPA for a year beyond its June 30 expiration date

Goss also suggested resumption of rationing if necessary to assure equitable distributions of scarce articles to consumers He did not name any items in this category

Earlier committee members reported growing support for a move to write into the OPA law a provision for automatic gradual liquidation of various price controls as supply balances demand

Rep Brown (D Ga) ranking member of the house banking committee said he would offer such an amendment to pending legislation giving OPA another year's lease on life

Earlier Rep Wolcott (R Mich) senior committee Republican told newspapermen he intended to seek mandatory discontinuance of price ceilings on any commodity when inflationary pressures lessen as supply moves close to demand

HINT PAULEY MAY WITHDRAW HIS NAME

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON March 9—Scrappy Ed Pauley wouldn't say yes and he wouldn't say no but he left the way open today for withdrawal of his nomination to be undersecretary of the Navy

As hearings on the appointment headed for a sixth week, a senate naval committee member who declined to be quoted by name said the withdrawal may come next week after an expected conference between the nominee and President Truman

But Edwin W Pauley was emphatic that he has no intention of quitting until he is personally satisfied that he has blasted all of the testimony offered against him and his reputation is clear

In this vein he told reporters that to him confirmation to the important Navy post has become a lesser issue than vindication of his integrity

In Loving Memory
★Of Gloyd D. Baldauf, who died 10 years ago today, March 9, 1936.

Dearest Gloyd, how we miss you,
No one knows the pain you bore,
But we know that you have left us
To return, no, never more.
No more upon this earth we'll see
Your sweet and smiling face,
There is no one in this world
Who ever can take your place.
Now we must journey on without you,
Though the day be long and sad,
Ever looking unto Jesus,
The best friend man ever had.
God takes our loved ones from our homes
But never from our hearts,
It is hard to say goodbye,
But we all must part.
Rest, dear Gloyd, your work is done,
And when the day of life is fled,
May we all meet up in heaven
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Sadly missed by

You gave no one a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none;
A weary heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew you'd gone.
And when the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing,
If you could only come home.
You shall never be forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts will always linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

U. S. Hopes Monetary Parley Will Be Quiet

By The Associated Press

SAVANNAH, March 9 — The international monetary conference held at least a breath of promise today that it might become a modern-day phenomenon — a multi-nation meeting without a major fight.

At least, that is the American plan.

As such meetings go, the first formal session this morning hardly gave cause for controversy—a message from President Truman, a speech by Secretary Vinson as pro-tem chairman of the 42-nation conference, welcoming passages by spokesmen from Georgia and appropriate replies from the foreign delegations.

WANTS CURB ON UNIONS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 9 — Laws are needed to make labor unions legally responsible for contractural obligations because increased strikes are dangerously affecting the welfare of the people, the Columbus Chamber of Commerce contends. A resolution passed by the chamber yesterday also cited a need for making anti-trust, anti-racketeering and campaign contribution laws apply to unions as well as corporations.

OHIO THEATRE

Film Picture in Redwoods

Ohio To Show "The Enchanted Forest"; Now Playing Through Thursday.

"The Enchanted Forest," starring Brenda Joyce, Edmund Lowe, Billy Severn and Harry Davenport, is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

This technicolor fantasy which has 14 trained animals and birds which act along with the featured players, has the beautiful California redwoods forest as the background. Harry Davenport plays the role of old John, a hermit of the woods in which the story is set.

John has always known the peaceful feeling of the forest. When he finds a lost child in the woods, played by Billy Severn, he teaches this to the boy and brings him up among the wild creatures. Several people who have been hurt by life are drawn to the woods and eventually through the quietness, they find peace within themselves. Among the trained animals which appear in the picture are the dog, a goat, mountain lion, squirrel and many others.

A March of Time film, "Life With Baby," will be shown with "The Enchanted Forest." In this film, March of Time takes you to the famous Yale Clinic which is directed by one of America's foremost child psychologists, Dr. Arnold Gesell. It tells about the development of babies and how their muscles and minds grow stage by stage.

"Cinderella Jones," starring Robert Alda and Joan Leslie, will be shown for seven days starting Friday.

Using the theme of the well-known fable of nursery days which concerned Cinderella and her glass slipper, this picture traces the adventures of Judy Jones, played by Joan Leslie, who discovers that she has inherited ten million dollars. She has been singing with Tommy Coles' jump orchestra but gives this up when she finds that according to the provisions of the inheritance she must marry a man with a high intelligence. This starts her on her merry way in search of a husband who who will meet this qualification.

The plot of this picture which stars Lou Costello as the country boy Benny Miller and Bud Abbott in a dual role impersonating two of the tycoons with whom an innocent rural young man comes in contact, involves the success story of a country boy who goes to the big city to make good.

Benny, who has been taking lessons in salesmanship from phonograph records, leaves his small home town in California to go to Los Angeles. He obtains a job as salesman with a vacuum cleaner firm, and when he is made the victim of a prank by the other salesmen he outsells them and wins a prize.

"A Community Sing," "Canine Casanova," "This is America" and the latest Paramount News will be shown with the feature picture.

"Because of Him," starring Deanna Durbin, Charles Laughton and Franchot Tone, will be shown Wednesday through Saturday.
